FRANCH GOVERNMENT ON INTRIGUES OF ENEMY

Publication of Yellow Book throws some new light on the Artful Diplomacy of Germany which has resulted in the War of the Nations

The French ministry of foreign affairs has made public a Yellow Book bearing on the cause of the present war. The French volume is much more complete than the publications of the other belligerents, and is the first time by other governments.

The French report has 216 pages and contains no fewer than 10 documents.

It is devoted primarily to a recital of the negotiations which followed the delivery of the Austrian note to Serbia (July 23, 1914), and which preceded the declaration of war by Germany on August 4, 1914, and on France (August 3, 1914). It is brought to a close by the reproduction of the French ultimatum to the Russian governments, that Great Britain, Russia and France would not conclude peace separately.

The French diplomatic documents in this book are divided in chapters in order to distinguish the preliminary from the principal phases of the European crisis. The first chapter is entitled "Preface." It contains a extract of the yellow book given out by the French government to the press in Paris, regarding the French ultimatum to the Russian

separately.

Still An Issue

The sugar factory is still an issue. This week the situation has taken on a new complexion. The C. P. R. has suddenly awoke to a realization of the fact that a great industry is about to leave a field in which they are vitally concerned. Industrial commissioner Sweeting visited the city last Monday, and to The Leader spoke favorably of the proposition, although he would make no definite statement. The visit of the official, however, has much significance. It means that the most powerful corporation in the world wants to hold the factory in Alberta. The wheels of their superb machine have been set in motion to accomplish this end. And great corporations usually get just about what they want.

Inasmuch as the Knight Sugar company is quitting this country, we know of no other concern that would be hailed with greater delight as the future promoter of the sugar industry in the south, than the C. P. R. The taking over of the plant would put new life and energy into the industry. It would mean the beginning of a more stable era in the history of Raymond and the whole of Southern Alberta. It would restore public confidence in the unsurpassed resources of the province. The C. P. R. are the logical purchasers of the factory. They control the transportation facilities; water, land, coal and to a certain extent the labor market. Furthermore: there looms up the question of immigration and colonization.

Next to the government the C. P. R. has been the most potent factor in the settlement of Canada. It is known that the company is now mapping out an extensive colonization propaganda to be launched immediately after the present war. This means that thousands of stiff-worn people will leave the shores of Europe for Canada, the land of brighter hopes and wider opportunities. Homes must be found for these refugees. Our cities are now over-crowded. The vast army of unemployed is being fully augmented. This itself is a serious problem. The only way then to cope with this foreign influx is to put them on the land. Back-to-the-land is the slogan of the age. It is a good one. The world needs more producers and fewer parasites. Society today demands that every man shall be a creator, either of bread, clothing, implements—anything that contributes to the material progress of the race.

Saskatchewan Bridge and Iron Company Resumes Constructive Work

During these dull times when there are unemployed in almost every Western town and city, the value of substantial manufacturing industries, such as exist in Winnipeg, Calgary, Medicine Hat, etc., is manifest. It is true, of course, that most of the industries in these cities are not quite as busy as they were two or three years ago, but nevertheless the presence of factories in these and other cities in the West has made them more prosperous than they otherwise would have been, in the period of depression. Commercial travellers report business better in the towns where manufacturing industries exist than anywhere else in the West. It is gratifying to know, therefore, that work has been resumed on the extensive plant of the Saskatchewan Bridge and Iron Co. on the West Industrial site, to which the railway spur has recently been completed. Seven carloads of material, in the shape of iron and brick were switched to the factory site last night, and some 20 or 30 men are now busy finishing the factory, the steel work on which is already up. In a short time this company will also start work on the construction of some 25 residences for its workmen, and in about 60 days it is fully anticipated that the factory will be finished and turning out its full line of products for use all over the prairie provinces.

The factory buildings will represent an investment of something around $100,000, and when the industry is in full working order about 100 men are expected to be given employment.

As factories, catering to the vast home market of the West, are established in Western communities a trade depression, such as has prevailed during the past two or three years, will not have such a marked effect on Western Canada. Greater stability of business conditions, such as has enabled Ontario and Quebec to continue on their way in the past two or three years with almost uninterrupted prosperity, will be created. By reasonable adherence to Canada's existing trade policy, there is no reason for doubting that in time the West will be dotted with factories just as are the older provinces today.

WHY ESSEX COUNTY IS A PROSPERITY

Manufacturing Development Has Given Farmers a Profitable Market—Ideal Conditions

The special correspondent of the Toronto "Globe" writing from Windsor a few days ago reports that the most important factor in Essex county contributing to the prosperity of the farmers of that district is the big industrial development of the last two years around Windsor, Sandwich, Wexford and Port Clinton. He credits a splendid local market, and this, combined with the purchasing facilities of the distillery at Walkerville, makes Essex county farmers quite independent of outside consumers. Although the industrial transformation around Windsor has resulted in the establishment of a thriving urban community, it has been almost entirely accomplished without drawing on the rural population, the increased population being represented mostly by immigrants, who, having regard to their old country environments, still adhere to the closely settled places in search of employment.

While Canada's trade policy has been criticized severely in many quarters, it is safe to say that any one who would visit the border counties, such as described above, would be fully convinced that a policy which has resulted in a great number of United States concerns establishing substantial manufacturing industries in Canada, was in the interest of every class in the community. While results of this kind are not yet as much in evidence in the West as they are in Ontario and Quebec, it must be remembered that manufacturing development in Western Canada is of comparatively recent origin. Up to a few years ago the home market of the West was scarcely large enough to afford a manufacturer a profitable field. With the filling up of the West has come a marked increase in factories, and already Winnipeg, Medicine Hat and other Western cities have reaped direct benefits from the policy which requires manufacturing in Canada. This is seen by the location in Western Canada of Canadian branches of many American firms. Ten or twenty years from now dispatches similar to what appeared in the "Globe" recently will be appearing in the Canadian press from Western communities.

By JOHN J. BREEN.

NE of the most important branches of an army in the field is the pioneer or construction corps, and reports from the battlefields of Europe show that in the present struggle this branch of the armies involved has been busy and has shown the highest efficiency and bravery. The paths of the armies in the field are strewn with new, rebuilt, temporary and permanent bridges. Frequently it happened that after a big bridge was blown up it was replaced the very next day by the advancing foe.

The story of the siege of Antwerp from the German side, as related by an officer attached to the staffs, is largely the story of the marine division, of the pioneers and of the artillery, which formed the backbone of the heterogeneous army of landwehr, landsturm and reserve formations intrusted to General von Beseler to attack one of the strongest fortresses in Europe. It is a story of easy victory where hard fighting was expected and of desperate resistance in formidable positions where little trouble was anticipated, of volunteers in life preservers crossing moats and rivers with hand grenades to attack the intrenched Belgians, of assaults twice abandoned. In the face of impossible infantry fire of pioneers swimming rivers by night displaying almost unbelievable bravery.

to lay bridges for the storming infantry.

Wire Entanglements in Moat.

Fort Wavre-St. Catherine was a difficult nut for the German forces to crack, a moat about fifty yards wide and elaborate wire entanglement (charged with a high tension electric current, according to German account) making the fort apparently almost impregnable to direct attack. Nevertheless volunteers in plenty were found.

Working like beavers since the start of the war, the Belgians had converted this natural obstacle into a veritable fortress. Successive lines of trenches shelter pits and bombproofs had been built for the infantry, positions for the field guns were scattered everywhere, wire entanglements had been laid everywhere in the flooded portions of the river valley, the water also hiding deep trenches dug at irregular intervals in all directions, and everywhere before the line were dug "wolf's holes," deep conical pits lined to the bottom with mud and high sharp steel spikes to impale an

The Germans gradually fought the way to this line and then entrenched the hostile trenches being separated the width of the flooded valley. Vigorous was the fire that a head count scarcely be shown above the trench without drawing a fusillade and the German and Belgian riflemen resorted to the time worn expedient of holding up their caps to draw the enemy's and give themselves a chance to get an aimed shot.

The position was found to be so formidable that the German lines were tired from the river bank, and to German artillery was given the task of reducing the Belgian lines sufficient to permit the infantry to resume its attack with some hope of success. The infantry fire was, finally beaten down and a crossing forced near the town of Lierre, which lies in the middle of the flooded district. German planes swimming across under cover of darkness and laying bridges, over which the infantry and field artillery dashed.

With this success the Belgian defense practically collapsed. The Belgian troops fell back rapidly from their lines, abandoning their heavy artillery and several machine guns, and the Germans, who had hastily intrenched themselves to repulse the expected counter attack, were able to bring forward their heavy artillery at once to the attack on the inner line of forts as the bombardment of the city.

Termed Pioneer Corps.

man and Austrian armies have been termed pioneer corps. In addition to special training in the use of boats, pontoons, tools, etc., they are trained in the use of all military equipment, an exacting kind. Their education has been most thorough, and no expense has been spared to put them up to a high standard of efficiency. When the boats were turned loose in great woods and swamps and given all the experience of actual warfare. They were especially taught in the use of the boats.

22. The corps of the pioneers is regarded as the hardest in the army. The men are subject to all kinds of exposure. They have to work through the swamps, mud, and many times die of pneumonia.

A MERICAN army officers are studying the use of the motorcycle in modern warfare. Many of them are advocates of the extension of that service in our army work, confident that the operations of the drilled motorcyclists of European armies will show that it is destined to be one of the most important of the auxiliaries of the army. Already the motorcycle, both in its original form as a means of rapid locomotion for a single dispatch rider and in the later development, with the side seat or side car attachment as a mobile way of carrying observations officers about a field of operations more quickly than on horseback, have been tested

The Old, Old Servant Problem

ONE has felt for a long time that the last word has been spoken on the ever recurrent servant question. Now some brave homemaker has come forward to say that the housewife herself is to blame for the domestic service being in such disrepute among the working classes.

The housemaid's lot in most cases is not an enviable one. She has to work hard, gets very little praise and much blame and is only in exceptional cases given a room which is light, airy or attractive, and certainly her wage is not high.

Forbids Singing 'Tipperary'

United States Secretary Calls it a Breach of Neutrality

Commenting on the action of Lord, Commander-in-Chief, backed up by J. D. Daniels, secretary of the navy, in forbidding the singing of "Tipperary" in the United States navy, the New York Times editorially states that it is a violation of neutrality for the men in the navy to sing "Tipperary."

SOME NEW LIGHT ON OLD SUBJECTS

Conditions Created by the War Have Caused Changes in Policy and Methods of Business

A Canadian editor, who has never put very much stock in the "Made-in-Canada" appeal, and has always inclined to low tariff views, now sees the question in a different light as witnesses the following paragraphs from a strong editorial on the subject a few weeks ago.

"We have never been very strong apologists for the 'Made-in-Canada' idea because we have never been great believers in mixing sentiment and business. We are inclined to believe that the Canadian manufacturer who is compelled to make his goods up to a certain standard or fail to get the business; is much more likely to be successful in the end than the man who feels that he has so strong a sentimental hold on the people of the country that he can sell what he produces even if the quality is not of the best. We have not a good many manufacturers who hold the same view, and while naturally wishing to see every industry that can, so long as it is not dishonest, to increase their sales, are not disposed to impute very much practical help to the 'Made-in-Canada' propaganda which was started some ten or more years ago.

"We think, however, that the present is a time when we can look at this question through different spectacles. The times to-day are not normal; they are such as we have never seen before and we should never hope to see again; they are times such as should prompt every Canadian to lend a helping hand to every other Canadian, and in doing this help not only Canada but the Empire at large.
While it is important that we should make as large a contribution as possible, of both money and men, to aid the Empire, it is also important that we should do all we can to look after our own people and we cannot do this in any better way than by providing them with work. Until the war is over then, and we come back to old time conditions, it is the duty of every Canadian citizen to aid in whatever way he can, the production of goods by Canadian factories.
If there was ever a time for the
'Made-in-Canada' slogan it is now."

MADE IN GERMANY HELPS THE GERMANS

Renewed Interest in the Cry—Commandments Distributed by the Chamber of Commerce

Many Canadians have in the past been inclined to scoff at the "Made-in-Canada" appeals which have been launched by Canadian manufacturers, and have expressed doubt as to their effectiveness in achieving the object desired. No doubt when Germans renounced their persistent advocacy of the "Made-in-Germany" idea they too, had to contend with those who belittled their efforts. With characteristic tenacity, however, they stuck to their guns, with the result that "Made-in-Germany" has become one of the most powerful commercial appeals in the world. Most Germans know the Ten Commercial Commandments, which appear below, almost as well as the decalogue handed down by Moses.

1. In all expenses keep in mind the interests of your own country.
2. Never forget that when you buy foreign articles your own country is poorer.
3. Your money should profit no one but the Germans.
4. Never profane German factories by using foreign machinery.
5. Never allow foreign staples to be served at your table.
6. Write on German paper with a German pen, and use German blotting paper.
7. Use German flour, eat German fruit, and drink German beverages.
They alone give your body the true German energy.
8. If you do not like German malt coffee, drink coffee from the German colonies.
9. Use only German clothes for your dress and German hats for your head.
10. Let no foreign flattery distract you from these precepts, as the firstly convinced that whatever others may say, German products are the only ones worthy of the citizens of the German Fatherland.

If the words Germany and German are changed to Canada and Canadian, the foregoing Commandments are applicable to every individual in Canada, and should be adopted by him in his daily life, particularly under present conditions. Bear them in mind the next time you go into the corner store to make a purchase.

A BETTER REMEDY THAN NASTY SALTS

Few people like to take physic, especially salty, because they are so disagreeable to take and because of the griping and pain they cause. Resall's Oriental enables you to take laxative physic, and all without griping, paining or excessive looseness. Salts and harsh physic usually give only temporary relief and often leave the bowels worse off than before.

Resall's Oriental moves the bowels promptly, and soothe, tone and strengthen the intestinal muscles, leaving them healthy and regular in action. They taste like candy, and the movement they cause is as easy and natural as though your bowels were in perfect health and you never had to take any physic at all. We have so much faith in Resall's Oriental that we urge you to try them with the understanding that, if they do not satisfy you in every way, all you have to do to get your money back is to tell us. We honestly believe them to be the best bowel remedy made. In vast perfect this bowels. Resall's Oriental.
